Rev. O. E. Connett Retires; GI in Korea Tells of Funeral There

RETIREMENT DEPT.: When I started to work for The Daily Register in 1932 the Rev. O. E. Connett was the pastor of the First Methodist church of Harrisburg. This year he retired after 49 years of service in Methodist churches of southern Illinois. This week he and Mrs. Connett moved from Roselake, where he was pastor, to Flora, a former home.

Rev. Connett started his work in Carrier Mills and was pastor of larger churches for 29 years, being assigned to smaller ones as he became older.

Rev. Connett conducted between 1,100 and 1,200 funerals and has married 600 couples.

MORE RETIREMENT: Pfc. James K. Kinnaman, in Korea, has written his parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Kinnaman, a graphic account of a funeral.

Says Pfc. Kinnaman: "Out of the little village that lies behind our compound yesterday came a funeral procession bearing the remains of one of the old gentlemen of that village. The procession was accompanied with much wailing and gnashing of teeth (to use the Christian vernacular). However sincere and profound the occasion may have been to the Koreans, I must confess that to me it was more of a spectacle than anything else."

"The procession passed right by and I got a ring-side seat. Principal object both in size and in importance was the casket, brightly colored and decorated and resting on a platform far above the heads of the crowd. Platform and casket were borne on the shoulders of several palbearers who staggered and weaved about, either out of design or because they had a headstart on the liquor that always is a feature at a funeral."

Following came the principal mourners, dressed in what appeared to be burlap. I felt compassion for these sad people because they were sincerely bereaved and all the rest of the crowd looked like it was along simply for a good time. Everyone besides these chief mourners wore white robes, white being the color of mourning, I believe.

"As the funeral passed us, they seemed as much interested in us as we were in them."

"The funeral weaved its way until it came to the railroad tracks which run between Seoul and Incheon. When the procession approached the tracks it went into all sorts of gyrations. The casket would lunge ahead only to retreat again in a most distressed manner. After much struggling the palbearers were at last able to carry their burden over the tracks and it was the whole procession continued on down the road and out of sight."

"I learned later from a G. I. who followed behind just what had happened on the tracks. It seems that the old man's spirit was following along sort of looking out after the body now that it was dead. For some reason, the spirit definitely was set against letting the casket cross the railroad tracks. Evidently the old man had had an unfortunate encounter with these tracks while he was alive and his spirit revolted when the funeral reached the spot."

"I don't know how the mourners talked the spirit into letting them pass. The wife of the dead man turned the trick, I believe."

Pfc. Kinnaman also writes about the Korean, who chiefly is a farmer.

"I must confess," he says, "the Korean man doesn't usually work too strenuously. The ox and his wife do most of the work in Korea. The Korean woman is small and usually slim. They are kept in physical trim probably from the work they do. They always stand erect and have a good carriage. And when they walk they have a good stride. In Japan the women, when they walk, look as if they are constantly stumbling over something."

Planes Strafe Presidential Palace in Capital

Invading Army
Of Refugees Grows
Stronger in Rebellion

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (U-P)—An invading anti-Communist army of Guatemalan exiles was reported today to have seized the key Guatemalan Caribbean port of Puerto Barrios and to have strafed the presidential palace in Guatemala City from the air.

Another report said the rebels had taken the rail city of Zacapa after stiff fighting. The Pacific port city of San Jose also was under attack and may have fallen.

Reports from inside Guatemala were exceedingly sketchy and were unofficial.

An invading army of 5,000 men which crossed into Guatemala from the border with Honduras was said nearly to have doubled its strength as it moved toward the capital, taking "several" border towns in its path.

Local residents were reported joining the rebels in increasing numbers.

Reports to Guatemalan exiles in El Salvador, whence another arm of the land, sea and air invasion was reported ready to strike, said that rebel airplanes struck at Guatemala City with impunity. The rebel "air force" was said to consist only of light Cessnas and Piper Cubs, indicating that the Guatemalan air force was refusing to attack them.

In Washington, a Guatemalan embassy spokesman said his country had protested to the United Nations Security Council against the "invasion" by mercenary troops which had penetrated three miles into Guatemalan territory near the Honduran frontier.

The revolt was being led by Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, former chief of the Guatemalan air force, who still was in Tegucigalpa and who promised a communique later in the day.

The official Guatemalan radio acknowledged before it went off the air at midnight that 12 planes had bombed Guatemala City, but claimed the only damage inflicted had been to the home of one of the rebel leaders and to the home of his mother.

Serious uprisings against the Red-tinted regime of President Jacobo Arbenz were reported in key cities in the interior of Guatemala.

Presbyterian Resolution Hits Discrimination

CARBONDALE, Ill. (U-P)—A resolution expressing "embarrassment over discrimination against a Negro Presbyterian minister was passed by the Illinois Synod of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., Friday as it closed its annual meeting here."

The Rev. W. C. Robinson of Chicago was refused service by the manager of a local drug store during the conference.

A motion by the Rev. John N. Dugan of Augusta was rejected. He proposed that the synod moderator, a Carbondale minister and a Carbondale elder of the church visit the store manager regarding the incident.

The synod put into the record the stand taken by the General Presbyterian Assembly in Detroit last month urging "all Christians to assist in preparing their communities" to carry out the Supreme Court's decision against segregation.

The synod resolution also noted that the single act of discrimination did not register a conviction of the entire city.

Rites Sunday at Stonewall for Mrs.
Martha Wall Baker

Mrs. Martha Wall Baker, 70, known to everyone as "Mint," and the widow of Rev. Harry Baker, Eldorado, died this morning at 8 o'clock.

She is survived by three children, Elizabeth Cox, Eldorado, Blanche Russell, Chicago, and Paul Deaton, Marion; ten grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Methodist church in Stonewall. Rev. Leroy Lyle, Eldorado, will officiate, and burial will be at the Zion cemetery east of Ozark.

The body now lies in state at the Thornton funeral home in Stonewall.

FIRE AT CHICAGO STOCKYARDS—A wall of smoke covers the Armour & Company fertilizer plant at Chicago's stockyards during an early morning blaze which gutted the building. At least fifty pieces of fire equipment were called to the blaze by special alarms to keep the fire from spreading. None of the thirty-five workmen in the building were reported injured in the half-million dollar fire. (NEA Telephoto)

SALINE COUNTY OIL REPORT: Indicate Good Well In Wildcat Test

By BOB SKEELS

Three miles south of Harrisburg the wildcat test that hit last week is now cleaning out to test the Palestine. Joe Ashoff Jr. and associates have cable tools over the hole and are testing natural on their No. 1 A. L. Smith, SW SW of section 2-10-66, after a drill stem test recovered 1140 feet of clean oil, and oil mixed mud, about two thirds clean oil and the rest a little mud mixed. The Palestine came in at 1260-64 and there is some talk that this is a deep Pennsylvania sand formation instead of the Palestine. Just a few hundred feet to the south, the dry holes drilled there topped their Palestine around 1450, but whatever fortune the oil is coming from, it's going to be a good well.

Complete Well Near Eldorado

L. F. Wilson got a disappointing duster this past week on his Virgil Manker lease in section 23-7-56, four miles due north of Galatia, near the Hamilton county line. Total depth was 3400 through dry McClosky lime. Merle Williams of Mt. Vernon did the geology.

Four miles northwest of Eldorado, the only test still running in that area was completed as an oil well this past week. Breuer and Robison have initiated their No. 4 J. H. Massey for 55 barrels of oil per day from the Cypress sand 2550-61 after fracturing.

Northwest of Eldorado, Bryon Rucker and Bud Rue are drilling ahead below 2500 on their No. 1 Slow Heirs, NE NW SW, 17-8-76, after drill stem testing the Palestine and Tar Springs sand. A test of the Palestine from 1980-89 gassed in 25 minutes and recovered 90 feet of gas mixed with mud with a slight show of oil, and a test of the Tar Springs from 2241-50 recovered 780 feet of gas, with 30 feet of mud mixed oil and a bottom hole pressure of 290 pounds. Bud Rue is watching the well and picking the tops.

Drill No. 3 Jones Test

Just west of Eldorado, John Stelle and Associates are drilling ahead on their No. 3 John J. Jones below 2600 with Rucker's rotary tools.

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Sen. Lester C. Hunt died today of a bullet wound, Casualty Hospital officials announced.

WASHINGTON (U-P)—Sen. Lester C. Hunt (D-Wyo.) was rushed to casualty hospital today with a rifle wound in the head. His condition is serious.

At the hospital, Detective Sgt. E. D. Crook said the wound "apparently" was self-inflicted.

Capitol police were investigating the circumstances of the shooting. Earlier this month Hunt announced he would not run for reelection this year for health reasons. He is 61.

The office of Dr. George W. Calver, capitol physician, said Hunt was alone in his Senate office at the time of the shooting. He was found by his administrative assistant, Mike Manatos, and was taken to the hospital.

Bullet Hits Temple

Calver's office said Hunt was shot in the right temple with a bullet from a 22-caliber rifle. The rifle was found in his office and is in the hands of capitol police.

Calver's office reported Hunt's condition as "guarded" — which meant, it said, that the senator "could go either way."

Hunt is a dentist. He maintains an office at Dentist, Wyo. He was elected to the Wyoming House of Representatives and became Secretary of State in 1934, and was elected governor in 1942. He was re-elected in 1946.

Hunt was elected to the Senate in 1948 to a term ending Jan. 3, 1955.

Earlier this month Hunt spent some time in the Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital, receiving a check-up.

Senate Demos To Carry Tax Fight to Floor

Boost in Personal
Exemptions Will be Offered as Substitute

By United Press

Senate Democrats plan to make a floor fight for a scaled-down proposal to cut everybody's income taxes by boosting personal exemptions $100 a year.

The proposal will be offered as a substitute for a provision in the administration's tax reform bill providing tax relief on income from corporation stock dividends.

The House-passed tax bill carrying selective tax cuts amounting to $1,477,000,000 a year, won final approval in the Senate Finance Committee Friday. It is expected to reach the Senate floor late next week.

Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), leading Democratic tax spokesman, announced the change in the exemption-boosting proposal. George and other Democrats had originally favored increasing the present $600 exemption to $800 this year and to $1,000 in future years.

The Georgian said he preferred another tax-cutting plan which would provide a flat $20 tax credit ($40 for married couples) for each taxpayer whose annual tax bill is that much or more.

George reserved the right to vote for either proposal. He said Democrats would first offer the proposal to increase exemptions as a substitute for the administration-backed dividend relief provision.

If that fails, George's $20 tax credit plan will be proposed as an amendment — not as a substitute — to the bill.

Other congressional news.

TVA: Rep. Holifield (D-Calif.) has urged Congress to block President Eisenhower's plans for a private power plant to supply energy for the Tennessee Valley Authority. Holifield said Mr. Eisenhower acted without authority in ordering the Atomic Energy Commission to complete the deal. Under the plan, a private power plant would supply TVA with 600,000 kilowatts of power to replace an equal amount TVA will deliver to the AEC's atomic plant at Paducah, Ky.

Squander: Rep. Charles B. Brownson (R-Ind.), chairman of a House Government Operations subcommittee, promised to disclose more cases of alleged "squandering" of foreign aid funds next week. Brownson's subcommittee has already turned up instances of missing cargo shipments, faulty worm pills and dilapidated trucks and tractors in the program.

Logjam: Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland says the Senate will hold Saturday sessions, starting next week, to avoid a legislative logjam that would delay adjournment. Republican congressional leaders hope to wind up the present session July 31 so the lawmakers can return home and lay plans for their November election campaigns.

I. M. Clemens of Dixon Springs, Former SEIEC Director, Dies

I. M. Clemens, elderly prominent citizen of the Dixon Springs community, died today at 5 a. m. in the Western Baptist hospital in Paducah, Ky., following a long illness.

He had been for many years an associate of the Southeastern Illinois Electric Co-op and a Pope county director. He was a member of the Dixon Springs Baptist church and a cousin of the late Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain).

The body was returned this morning to the Buchanan funeral home in Golconda where the funeral will be Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Surviving are his wife, Cora, two sons and two daughters, one brother, J. D. Clemens, Golconda, and two sisters, Mrs. Annie Baker, Golconda, and Mrs. Clara Phelps, Robbs.

Coal Production
Down in May

SPRINGFIELD (U-P) — Illinois coal production in May was 2,774,389 tons, or 119,114 tons less than coal hoisted in April and 555,697 tons below production in May, 1953, the state Mines and Minerals Department announced today.

There were 55 shaft mines and 30 strip mines reporting May production. The shaft mines produced 1,721,709 tons and the strip mines 1,052,680 tons.

The 85 reporting mines employed 13,322 workers, compared to 13,516 miners employed by 107 mines working in April.

Congressmen, Diplomats Hope for Success of Anti- Red Rebellion in Guatemala

WASHINGTON (U-P) — Congressional leaders and U. S. diplomats today expressed fervent hope for the success of the anti-Communist rebellion in Red-tinted Guatemala.

The White House and State Department had no immediate comment.

But diplomatic officials made no effort to hide their pleasure over the dramatic outbreak against the leftist Government of Guatemala. They said it is what Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had in mind when he expressed the hope earlier this week that the Guatemalan people would clean their own house.

American officials were carefully watching reports from John E. Peurifoy, U. S. ambassador to Guatemala, to learn as soon as possible the outcome of the uprising.

House Republican Whip Leslie C. Arends (Ill.) summed up the sentiments of most congressmen with:

"I hope the anti-Communists chase all of the Communists out of Guatemala. What else is there to say?"

House Democratic Whip John W. McCormack (Mass.) said:

"The great majority of the people in Guatemala are vigorously opposed to Communism. In my own mind, I have been expecting some such action for some time."

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said it was "inevitable" that a revolution should occur. "A Communist-dominated government couldn't stand very long in the atmosphere prevailing in the Western Hemisphere."

Aiken said the shipment of arms transported on a Swedish vessel from an Iron Curtain country to Guatemala a month ago "apparently was the trigger that set it off."

He expressed the opinion that the United States should not take any action except "in conjunction with other American republics." He said he expected something would be done jointly by American republics if the Guatemalans are not able to "establish a more stable government."

Red Margin Called Thin

Sen. A. S. (Mike) Monroney (D-Okla.) said the "thin layer" by which the Communists controlled Guatemala "has been in danger many months."

"Therefore, the police state effort to control the government for Communist causes is apt to be overthrown in the uprising," he said.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.), member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said removal of the Red-dominated Guatemalan government is "in line with our best wishes."

"It is my best judgment that the anti-Communists will be successful," he said.

Rep. John M. Vorys (R-Ohio), ranking Republican member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said, "It looks as if Red government won't last long in the Western Hemisphere." Vorys declined to elaborate.

Congress Cool
To Pentagon's
UMT Proposal

WASHINGTON (U-P) — House and Senate military experts said today there is no chance Congress will act on the Defense Department's new modified Universal Military Training plan at this session.

Eden's deputy, will remain behind to continue negotiations. Eden may return after his visit to Washington with Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Eden also conferred this morning with Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai.

Religious sources said Chou's sudden show of sweetness at the conference resulted from a blunder committed by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov. Chou Blames Molotov

Chou was reported to have put the blame on Molotov for opposing British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's proposal to appoint India, Pakistan, Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia to an Indo-China truce supervisory commission.

The Communist Chinese premier-foreign minister was said to have appeared anxious to impress on his Asian visitors he by no means was opposed to Asian participation on a supervisory group.

Robert Denham,
Ousted NLRB
Counsel, Dies

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (U-P) — Robert N. Denham, ousted by former President Truman in 1950 as general counsel for the National Labor Relations Board, died in Barnes Hospital here Friday night following a heart attack.

Denham, 68, suffered the attack at lunch. He was attending the 50th anniversary of his St. Louis high school class.

Tall and slope-shouldered, Denham vaulted from relative obscurity to the national limelight in 1947 when Mr. Truman appointed him to the most powerful government labor post ever created by federal law for a single individual — general counsel for the NLRB.

Denham's ouster three years later climaxed a year-long battle by labor unions and the Truman administration to get rid of him. A Republican, Denham was a strong supporter of the Taft-Hartley labor law, which created the post of general counsel.

Action Permits France to Negotiate Alone

Eisenhower, Dulles
Order Smith to Report in Person

GENEVA (U-P) — The United States ordered all its top-ranking diplomats home from the Geneva conference today.

The American action paved the way for France to negotiate on its own for an end to the Indochina war.

An official U. S. announcement said that President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles had requested Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith to "report to them in person on the Geneva conference."

The announcement said Smith will leave for Washington Sunday afternoon.

Smith will be accompanied by all the top advisers who came here with him or with Dulles in the early days of the Far Eastern peace talks.

Czech Envoy Takes Over

American interests will be left in the hands of U. Alexis Johnson, U. S. ambassador to Czechoslovakia.

The withdrawal of the American delegates leaves the field clear for new Premier Pierre Mendes-France to reach a possible agreement on Indochina with the Communist bloc.

Mendes-France took office with the promise to gain a cease-fire on Indochina within a month, or resign. He is expected to come here sometime next week to discuss his plans.

Earlier, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden had told Smith that he would leave the conference within 48 hours.

Eden and Smith agreed at a meeting earlier in the day that there was no reason to change plans for top-level talks in Washington next week because of the French developments.

Eden Stops at Paris

Returning to Washington with Smith were Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, and Herman Phleger, the State Department's legal adviser.

Eden will confer with Mendes-France in Paris Sunday. Then he will return to London to report to Churchill and to prepare for their visit to Washington.

London is believed ready to accept the settlement proposals attributed to the new French premier. These are said to include the neutralization of Laos and Cambodia, and the division of Viet Nam into major zones with the French retaining at least a partial hold on the major northern Indochina ports.

U. S. Stays Out

Authoritative sources said that the United States, unless it changes its mind, will not associate itself with such a solution.

The Marquess of Reading, Eden's deputy, will remain behind to continue negotiations. Eden may return after his visit to Washington with Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Eden also conferred this morning with Red Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai.

Religious sources said Chou's sudden show of sweetness at the conference resulted from a blunder committed by Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov. Chou Blames Molotov

Chou was reported to have put the blame on Molotov for opposing British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's proposal to appoint India, Pakistan, Burma, Ceylon and Indonesia to an Indo-China truce supervisory commission.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
The righteous shall hold on his way, and he that hath clean hands shall be stronger and stronger. — Job 17:9.

This holds true of individuals, families, and nations. Evil makes spectacular strides very often, for a time, but robber nations have passed from the pages of history and once powerful families as well degenerate, speedily into ruin if not founded on morality. Impoverishes pull the unworthy down.

Low Egg Quality Brings Low Prices

Illinois farmers last year received 6.2 cents a dozen less for their eggs than the average U. S. price of 47.6 cents.

And they got almost 50 percent less than the 60.9-cent average price received by egg producers in the highest state, according to Don Bray, extension poultryman at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

Main reason for lower Illinois egg prices, Bray says, is generally poor quality of eggs marketed. And the place to start in improving Illinois egg quality is with the producers, since it's impossible to restore interior egg quality once it's lost.

Confine the laying flock and sell the roosters, the poultry specialist suggests. Confined hens produce better quality eggs with uniformly light yolk color. Under-tillaged eggs keep their quality much better than fertilized eggs. Clean out the nests when the need it, and keep the litter dry and clean. Then gather the egg at least twice a day in wire baskets, and cool them right away. Finally, market eggs at least twice a week.

Tests show that lack of gravity will not harm the body or mind of the space traveler.

Notes From Farm Adviser

By L. E. Kimmel

The spring conference for Farm Advisers was held at Urbana, June 8-11. The Farm Advisers and assistant Farm Advisers from the entire state of Illinois attended the classes, tours or experiments, lectures and demonstrations.

Land judging of soil types, structure, color and productivity of several soils located in Champaign county were studied with soil specialists in charge. Drainage, organic content, management and treatment with necessary plant food are just as important as appearance of the soil.

New varieties of oats, wheat, and alfalfa were observed. Dubois, a new winter oat, looks very good on experiment. Some were grown in Saline county this year on the farm operated by C. J. Wagner, north of Eldorado. Seed will be available for southern Illinois from this source. Clinton and Missouri 205 are probably the best spring oats at present.

For wheat, Saline, Seneca, Butler and Knox, a new early stiff straw is attracting much attention. Ranger and Buffalo are still the best alfalfa varieties for southern Illinois.

The meat type hog is being developed from Hampshire, Yorkshire and Duroc breeds of swine. The selection of individuals carrying less fat and more lean meat from these breeds and crossing them is producing an animal for which the packers bid higher prices. The price has not encouraged meat type production in hogs to date but more emphasis is being placed by packers to encourage better bacon, hams, loins and less lard from hogs shipped to market.

Beef cattle feeding on pasture with an experiment of 30 yearling steers being fed out on pasture showing the effects of different feeding methods. Ear corn ground and fed on pasture, shelled ground corn was being fed to half the steers on pasture to check the ration and management giving the most economical gains. The steers are being wintered on silage made from spring oats. The thirty head of steers are being produced on 40 acres divided into four 10-acre fields. Oats, alfalfa, and grass seeded in the oats, followed by corn after pasturing grass and alfalfa one year.

Grass silage, corn silage and alfalfa with grass cut for silage were observed during conference.

A machinery display of hay and grass drying equipment, corn combine which cuts, shells and cleans corn to be stored as shelled corn direct from the field, was very interesting. Spraying equipment for weed control was demonstrated.

Some of the general conclusions from the conference which may be of value to farmers are:

1. Grass should be included with legumes for best results in hay, pasture or silage production.
2. Balanced fertility is very important in producing crops. Nitrogen, lime, phosphate and potash all must be present for best yields.
3. A soil test is the best method to find out high or low elements in the soil for good crop yields.
4. Legumes, clovers, alfalfa, and organic matter are the cheapest source of nitrogen.
5. Adding nitrogen to clover sod before corn usually does not pay.
6. Use of commercial nitrogen on second year corn or land with no clover plowed under before corn may pay good dividends. Even here the soil must receive

Push Pigs for Early Market

Hot, uncomfortable hogs in summer may need up to three times as much feed for each pound of gain as hogs that are kept cool and comfortable.

A. H. Jensen, of the swine division at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture, says plenty of clean water and shade will help to keep your hogs "on the go" toward early markets during hot weather.

Provide enough waterers to give every pig an even break, Jensen suggests. Lots of fresh water will help them withstand the high temperatures. Sanitary hog wallows and natural or temporary shade will also help pigs put on efficient gains.

Self-feeding a balanced ration will insure the animals of getting all the protein, vitamins, minerals and salt they need to keep them gaining fast. An antibiotic growth stimulant may hasten their growth. Help your smaller pigs get ready for market by dividing your feeder pigs into uniform weight groups, Jensen suggests. Keep a close watch for disease so that you can stop it right away.

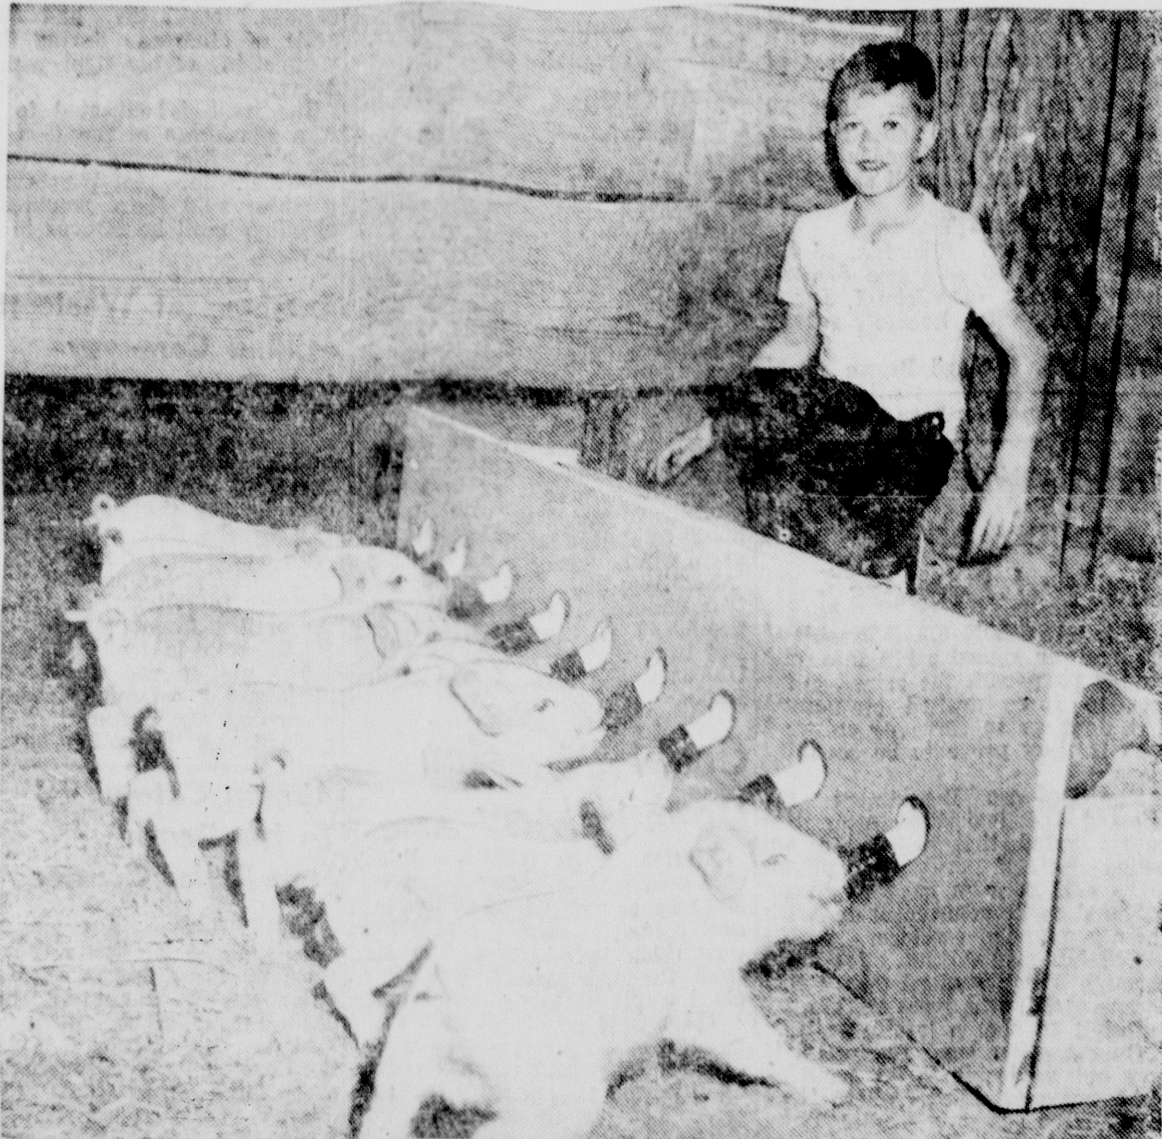

It's a good idea to have water, shade and feed close together to cut down the need for pigs to move around in the hot sun. Also, don't overcrowd and don't drive hogs unnecessarily.

PLAN OPERATIONS WISELY

Farm economists currently list these as the best tips for profits: (1) Sound planning now will help you get the most possible profit from diverted acres next year, (2) starting at harvest, don't let rodents and insects cut your wheat profit, (3) develop an understanding of government programs — it will help you make more profitable decisions, (4) keep an eye on farm products, such as changes in employment and length of work week, and (5) it will pay to keep track of where we are in the hog and cattle cycle.

Two words: Gross Carelessness!

MECHANICAL 'MAMA'—Nine mamaless pigs enthusiastically line up for makeshift rations on the Merton Elliott farm near Sublette, Kan., as nine-year-old Guy Elliott supervises the feeding. They are all homemade "pigateria," using pop bottles. The surviving pigs are thriving on their artificial mama.

Must Increase Consumption of Farm Products Instead of Supporting Prices, Farm Bureau Official Warns

A warning that only five weeks remain to get the Farm Bureau farm program passed by Congress was issued by Jack Lynn, American Farm Bureau Federation Legislative Director, in the opening address of the Midwest Farm Bureau conference held at Springfield, Mo., this week.

Frank Thomas, organization director for the Saline County Farm Bureau, attended the conference at which 12 midwest states were represented by about 840 delegates.

Lynn warned that this might be the final opportunity in "our lifetime" to get Congress to enact the Farm Bureau program.

Urges Farm Bureau "Push"
"We will either succeed or fail in these next five weeks, and I believe that will mean success or failure for a long time to come," Mr. Lynn stated.

"If we fail, you will see the results in the next three or four years if we get into real controls in agriculture. We've never had them yet, but we will have controls in agriculture that only a few years ago would have shocked Farm Bureau people had they been told of such controls."

He urged a "push" by county Farm Bureaus, county committees for national affairs and county leaders to get the Farm Bureau policy recommendations passed. Excerpts from Mr. Lynn's address follow:

"The continuation of war-time high level supports has added to the confusion. Suppose steel or the producers of tanks or ships (or any other commodity you can think of) had continued its production irrespective of markets from 1942 to 1954. A fellow in Arkansas tried to explain this program to a group of farmers when he talked about the old versus the new parity formula—which is designed to maintain the same ratio or relationship between prices of what you have to buy with what you have to sell. This is the way he put it: 'Remember when it took five or six good cows to buy one good mule back in 1910 to 1914? Now it takes five or six good mules to buy one good cow. If the government had subsidized mules to keep mules and cows in the same ratio, the commodity credit corporation would have mules instead of wheat.'

Original Purpose of CCC
"That's exactly what we're trying to do with wheat at the present time—and I don't know how many mules a billion bushels of wheat would make, but that's how many bushels of wheat we have to get rid of."

"The original law of 1938 set up the Commodity Credit Corporation for one purpose—to assist farmers in orderly marketing of their products, to keep all the wheat from going to market in the months of August and September so that farmers could orderly market their products and get the highest possible prices for them."

"The Commodity Credit is not meant to be a market for your wheat. It is an agency set up under the act to provide you with a mechanism to orderly market your products. The government is a great collector yet it is the poorest seller of commodities of any group in the world."

Need Peace Time Program
"When we turn over wheat, corn or cotton or anything else to the government, it's got to be sold. The Farm Bureau program is designed to gradually reduce the production, while at the same time increase markets for our farm products."

"The last two years have not been so good. You have people who make speeches and say 'look here, we have ridden faster than any human has ever done before and lived, yet we can't figure out a way to use what God has given us here in America—our bountiful supplies of the most precious things on earth, food and raiment. There are over a billion people in the world who desperately need and want these things, and yet we can't figure out how to use them!'"

"The Indians seek only enough rice for a day. The average consumption of all fibers, synthetics, cotton and all others, is but one pound per person per year in that area. In India the milk consumption is but one quart per person per year, while we have some 500 million pounds going to waste here in America just because we cannot find a market for it."

Horseback Ride May End in Fall

Horses—the riding kind, that is—are still plentiful in Illinois, judging from the number of injuries they cause.

For example, within one week three southern Illinois residents were injured in falls from horses. One woman's back was fractured; an 11-year-old girl required 20 stitches in her face and had both her arms broken; and a 5-year-old boy fractured his left arm.

Many injuries like these occur when the horse is frightened, says Gordon McCleary, University of Illinois extension safety specialist. Sometimes, too, a horse is too "frisky" for its rider to handle. This is especially true with children.

If you're an inexperienced rider pick a horse that's gentle. And pick your place to ride carefully. Horses are frightened by any sudden or unfamiliar sound or object.

The Greenland ice cap rises to a height of more than two miles, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

NEW LINCOLN STATUE—Shown here is the Lincoln Statue the National Society of the Sons of Utah Pioneers will present to Illinois in ceremonies at New Salem State Park June 21. The exact location of the statue at the famous reconstructed village where Lincoln spent six years as a young man, has not been selected. But in order to give an idea of how it will look we have superimposed a picture of the statue over a general view of the park. The Lincoln Statue Commission, which was appointed by Governor William G. Stratton to accept this nine-foot statue for Illinois, will hold dedication ceremonies at New Salem June 21.

SIU Country Column

June has been designated as dairy month and, consequently, there will be much emphasis on greater consumption of dairy products. Production and surpluses are running high while the consumption of such products as butter and cheese are not what they ought to be. A little extra milk used by everyone would soon make a big dent in the milk surplus.

The food value of milk is high. It is a practical source of calcium. Three glasses per day will supply all the calcium needed by the average adult for teeth, bones, and body repair. One glass will supply one-fourth of the riboflavin, one-seventh of the phosphorus, and one-eighth of the protein needed daily by an adult. Milk and other dairy products are one of the cheapest sources of animal protein available today.

Dairymen think it a good idea to make milk available in more schools through vending machines or by other means. Every school child in the country should have at least one-half pint of milk daily in addition to what they consume at home. If the 24,000,000 elementary and high school students in the country were to drink one-half pint more per day for nine months it would equal one-third of the surplus butter now held in storage by the government, or would equal three percent of the 1953 milk production in the United States.

Summer isn't the time to let the chickens shift for themselves. In fact, this is the season for special care to assure future profits. The winter's egg income depends on today's pullets, so it is essential to keep feed and water available at all times. It costs only a few cents more per hundred pounds to continue feeding mash with grain to growing pullets. Keeping the mash in the ration will bring them into production as much as a month earlier.

Trees are not the best poultry houses in the world but in some cases are better than hot, overcrowded brooder houses for maturing pullets. In other words, pullets should be on a good range by this time. A satisfactory range shelter to protect the pullets from weather may be constructed at nominal cost from odd materials available on the farm.

The broiler grower who desired large, quick-growing broilers next year well might save a few of the most rapid growing and feathering birds now for breeding stock.

One of the essentials in farm management is to keep costs down. A neighborhood exchange of labor is an important consideration in keeping labor costs down.

To keep the per farm equipment outlay down the farmer should consider cooperative ownership of combines, balers, forage harvesters, corn planters and pickers, drills, and other large equipment of limited and seasonal usage. Satisfactory ownership agreements may be worked out for the mutual benefit of the participants. The number of crop acres involved should be considered in any such arrangement.

FOGGING INSECTS

Want to clear your lawn of mosquitoes, chiggers, flies and other yard pests? You can punch a hole in an insecticide can and clamp it over the exhaust system of a power mower, suggests Capper's Farmer. The fog comes out at low pressure and drifts over a wide area. The "fogger" also can be used on the manifold exhaust of garden and farm tractors, cars and trucks.

Midwest Heat Wave Continues
By United Press

A June heat wave, the worst on record in some sections, showed no mercy on most of the Midwest today.

Torrential rains and severe thunderstorms occurred on the Great Plains.

A wave of refreshing Canadian air lay just out of reach of suffering Midwesterners.

Chicago was in its ninth day of above-90 heat and forecasters said the heat wave would continue at least through Sunday.

The conflict between the warm, moist Gulf air and the cool, dry Canadian air set off heavy rains that imperiled crops in Iowa and sent the Chippewa River rising to flood level at Eau Claire, Wis.

Girl Wins Chicken Of Tomorrow Contest Second Straight Year

LINCOLN, Ill. — A 16-year-old Greenville girl has won the Illinois Junior "Chicken of Tomorrow" contest for the second year in a row.

Molly Yost Friday took the championship with 10 birds that averaged 4.5 pounds each. The aim of the contest, sponsored by the Illinois Poultry Improvement Assn., is to develop a better "meat" chicken.

Other winners included Paul Gleason, Lincoln, second; David Dehart, Greenville, third; Billy Beswick, Rockport, fourth, and Ronnie Stephens, Greenville, fifth.

Joseph Boreas, Downers Grove, took the Northern Illinois sectional title; Miss Yost, Central, and Beswick, South.

Merchants Play At Herrin Sunday In New Ball Park

The Merchants travel to Herrin Sunday afternoon for a return engagement with the hard-hitting V. F. W. club. Herrin is playing in a new ball park this year which includes a new grandstand and the VFW states there is convenient accommodations for a great number of visiting fans.

Versatile Billy McNew will take the hill for the Merchants in an effort to pull the locals out of a three-game spin. Bill checked the onrushing Herrin club at Harrisburg in the first engagement by a 3-1 count. Besides a 3-0 hurling record, McNew has found time to swing his way to the top of the batting heap and turn in creditable performances at four different positions. Dick Romonosky, who is becoming an iron man behind the plate, will be McNew's receiver.

The Merchants' spin has been largely due to the absences of three regulars due to illness and it is not known yet if those players will see action Sunday. Dick Odle, the infield hub, Bob Williams and Tom Dunbar, who carry big guns, have been conspicuously absent from the lineup.

Players are asked to be present at the town park diamond ready to leave for Herrin at 12:15 p. m. Sunday.

One week from Sunday the Merchants will play host to "Stumpy" Harris' Kentucky Cardinals who feature the hurling of the well known southpaw showman, "Big Jim" Bumpus.

Gene Littler Takes Lead In U. S. Open

SPRINGFIELD, N. J. (AP)—Sandy-haired Gene Littler of Palm Springs, Calif., a 23-year old fledgling pro who quit the amateur ranks only five months ago, led the old masters of the fairways into the final two rounds of the U. S. Open golf championship today with a two-stroke margin on the field.

Winner of the U. S. amateur crown last fall, Littler is an icy-nerved youngster with a pressure-tested game but hard at his heels as the third round opened were defending champion Ben Hogan in grim pursuit of his fifth Open title and the veteran Ed Furgol of Clayton, Mo.

Littler calmly put together rounds of 70-69-139 on the first two days at tough old Baltusrol—one under par for the distance.

Hogan, one over par with 71 on opening day, came back with a par 70 Friday for a total of 141 and Furgol matched him exactly. But Bantam Ben appeared tired as he tried to shake some birdies out of his war-clubs and admitted: "I can't take too many days like these."

Others in threatening position at 143 were former Open champions Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., (1946) and Cary Middlecoff of Memphis (1949). Dick Mayer of St. Petersburg, Fla., and young Al Menger of Mamaroneck, N. Y.

Four others, including amateur Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, N. C., whose second round 67 was the best round of the tournament to date, were five shots back at 144. In this group were Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., Bobby Locke of South Africa and Bob Toski of Livingston, N. J.

Snead Has 145
Ailing Sam Snead, playing in his usual hard luck in his jinx tournament, stood at 145 on rounds of 72-73. He was tied with amateur Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., who slipped to 76 after leading the first day with 69.

It took a score of 151 to qualify for today's last rounds and exactly 50 players made it. There were 46 pros and only four amateurs, including Chapman, Patton, Bill Campbell and Gene Dahlbender.

Among those who missed qualifying were some great names of the past including Gene Sarazen, Tony Manero, Billy Burke, Denny Shute, and Chick Evans.

Others who missed included former PGA champion Chandler Harper (152), Peter Thomson of Australia (153), former British amateur champion Harvie Ward of San Francisco (154) and Vic Ghezzi (155).

Grisham Leads Point Winners in Stock Car Racing

With the half-way mark in the Saline County speedway racing program rapidly approaching, Leonard Grisham of Eldorado is the leading point winner.

Grisham has totaled 115 points so far this season and close back in second place is Eddie Hancock with 113 points. Hancock was the mid-season leader in 1953, with Bill Oglesby the season's champion.

Completing the first five point leaders are Bob Cletcher 90, Glen Gibbs 80 and Jerry Brinkley 73.

Racing at the Saline County Speedway will continue today, time trials at 7:30 p. m. and racing at 8.

Fans at the speedway last Saturday night witnessed one of the finest racing programs to be presented on the local oval. There were thrills aplenty as cars skidded around the turns and most of the races were close from start to finish.

Officials expect approximately twenty cars to be on hand tonight.

Charles is Physically Fit for Return Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Ezzard Charles was virtually assured of gaining a third crack at the world's heavyweight championship today when he was found "physically fit" following Thursday night's 15-round blood-letting with Rocky Marciano.

Dr. Ira A. McCown, medical director of the New York Boxing Commission, reported after an examination that Charles suffered no injuries in his defeat at the hands of the champion. Marciano has indicated he regarded Charles as a logical challenger if Ezzard demanded a shot at the title.

It was believed the International Boxing Club had selected Sept. 23 and the Polo Grounds as the tentative date and site for the return bout.

Stratton and Stevenson Urge Reapportionment

CHICAGO (AP)—Former Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and Gov. William Stratton Friday promised full support of the state's reapportionment amendment, and initiated the campaign for its enactment.

Stratton told a meeting of 200 civic and political leaders that the amendment "is a much needed basic change" in state government and that he was "sure" Illinois voters would approve it.

Stevenson, who backed the measure during his term as governor, quipped that he believed it was best "to do the right thing every 50 years."

Stratton said that those who opposed the amendment "do not have the best interests of Illinois at heart." He stressed that the measure is backed by both Republicans and Democrats.

The head, neck and tail of the American bald eagle do not become white until the bird is three or four years old.

THE CHIN—Lew Worsham is always a threat in the U. S. Open Championship, which takes place on Baltusrol's lower course, Springfield, N. J., June 17-19. Affectionately called The Chin, the Oakland star won it in 1947, gained added fame holding out his celebrated wedge shot to account for the rich World Championship at Chicago's Tam O'Shanter last summer.

Haddix Hurls Third Straight Shutout, Ninth Victory in Row as Cardinals Win, 5-0

By CARL LUNDQUIST
United Press Sports Writer
National League President Warren Giles insisted today there was no such thing as a "rabbit ball" and hurlers in both leagues demonstrated that he must know what he's talking about.

At least Friday night, if there were any "rabbit balls" around they must have been pretty well hidden. For it was strictly an evening for the pitchers.

Giles said that "I am sure no change in the official ball has been authorized by the major leagues for many years" and that the theory of the "jackrabbit" under the horsehide was strictly a myth.

No sooner had he spoken when there was a three-hitter turned in by Vernon Law of the Pirates, four-hitters by Mike Garcia of Cleveland, Arnold Portocarrero of the Athletics, and Harvey Haddix of the Cardinals, a five-hitter by Don Newcombe of the Dodgers and a seven-hit win by Corky Valentine of the Reds. Moreover, Billy Hoelt of Detroit and Warren Spahn of the Braves lost five-hitters, and Frank Sullivan of Boston was defeated in a six-hitter.

Law Outpitched Spahn

Law outpitched Spahn and also drove in the winning run in the 2-1 decision with a single in the ninth. Both teams went scoreless until the eighth when the Pirates broke the ice. Milwaukee tied it in the ninth when Bill Bruton scored from second on Hank Aaron's sacrifice fly. It was Law's sixth victory and Spahn's sixth defeat.

Haddix pitched his third straight shutout and his ninth straight victory, 5-0 for the Cards over the Giants. Newcombe turned in his first victory in six weeks, striking out eight in a 6-3 Brooklyn triumph over the Cubs. Valentine scattered his seven hits to beat Philly ace Curt Simmons, 2-1.

Garcia put Cleveland four games in front in the American league with his 2-0 victory over Boston while the Yankees defeated the White Sox, 7-6. Portocarrero defeated Hoelt in a duel, 2-1, with Bill Renna hitting a homer and double to pace the Athletics. The Senators topped Baltimore, 7-5, in 13 innings.

Haddix Has 32 Scoreless Innings

The victory by Haddix gave him a string of 32 scoreless innings and cut New York's first-place lead over Brooklyn to one game. Stan Musial hit his 22nd homer and drove in two runs to bring his major league leading total to 71. Rip Repulski also homered for the Cards.

Gil Hodges hit two homers and rookie Don Hoak blasted one in Brooklyn's triumph while Ralph Kiner and Dee Fondy homered for the Cubs.

Rookie Bob Grim was the hero in the Yankee triumph which put the champs in a virtual second-place tie with Chicago. He hit a homer and single to drive in four runs and gained his seventh victory in a relief role. The White Sox almost tied it with two runs in the ninth including Phil Cavarretta's first American league homer.

Garcia turned in his third shutout of the year and his ninth win against four defeats. Larry Doby drove in one Cleveland run with a single and scored the other after hitting a double, coming in on a single by Vic Wertz.

What do you see, Sonny? A plane, streaking across the sky? A pony, galloping into the sunset? A sailboat, gliding across the lake? If I were to look into those glasses, I might see other things. For you are viewing the world with the eyes of youth . . . while mine is the sight of age. I, too, can marvel at the speed of a plane, the grace of a pony, the beauty of a sailboat. But in all of them, I sense a force much greater than that of the man who pilots the plane, saddles the pony, or rigs the sail.

You are learning about that force when you go to Church each Sunday, and understanding it will be one of the greatest assets in your life. It will teach you to keep things in their proper perspective so that, when you get to be my age, though your sight may be dimmer you will see so much . . . so very much . . . more.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

"Hosea Pleads With Israel"

Hosea

GOLDEN TEXT: "For I desired mercy, and not sacrifice; and the knowledge of God more than burnt offerings." (Hosea 6:6)

INTRODUCTION: God loves sinners! He hates sin, but He loves the sinner. God loves the backslider, the one who has been in fellowship with him but now walks the wayward path. This is the message of the Bible. It is the special message of the Book of Hosea.

Israel, God's people, had wandered away from God. They were a rebellious, backslidden people. In Hosea 1:7 we find that they were "bent to backsliding."

It seems that history does repeat itself. The conditions which exist today parallel the conditions in Hosea's day. Sin flaunts its ugly self everywhere. Christian people are indifferent to sinful conduct. Righteous men are reluctant to stand up and be counted. People want to do the popular thing even to the extent of compromise. Men have forgotten that sin is in the sight of God, and that it must be punished.

I GOD LOVES SINNERS (V. 1-3) Who can understand the love of God? Greater than the love of sweetheart or mother is his wonderful love for sinners. Verse 1 emphasizes His love for the backslider. God sends his messengers and says "come." That word "return" refers to every person who has wandered away.

My! How many thousands of miserable Christians in the world today should heed this call. The Christian man or woman out of fellowship with God can never be happy in this world. On the other hand, the happiest people in this world are those who are in harmony with God.

Jesus said: "I am the door, by me if any man enter in, he shall be saved." (John 10:9).

II GOD PUNISHES SIN (V. 4-10) God is a just God. He goes all out in trying to love people into salvation. Sin must be punished. This is true for both the saved and the unsaved. The unsaved person (one who has refused to accept Jesus Christ as Savior) will suffer eternal punishment in hell for his own sins. The Christian means by this that he will whip him worse than a dad punishing his disobedient child. If a person thinks that he is a Christian and yet can get by with sin day after day, month after month and
